Playing With Dynamite

Kennedy says the U.S. will not be pushed out of Berlin Macmillan says Britain will not be blackmalled.

Khrushchev says the Soviet Union will not be intimidated.

This sort of talk frightens some people. It build. It is the stuff of which wars are made. should. It is the stuff of which wars are made.
It may be watered down by expressions of willingness to negotiate—voiced by all three—but this does not reduce the explosive content, any more than adding water to whisky reduces the amount of alcohol in the resultant drink. The mixture just tastes milder.

A willingness to negotiate is only an effec-tive safeguard against an explosion if it is a willingness to compromise. So far, there is no guarantee that any of the nations involved in guarantee that any of the nations involved in the Berlin dispute are ready to do this. Amongst the people of these nations, though, it is a different control of the second of the secon

Khrushchev threatens to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany. If he does, Russia would no longer be responsible for as-suring the Western nations free access to East Berlin. Instead, the control of the autobahn and railways would pass to East Germany. This is who generally regarded as a threat to the freedom of west Berlin. It is becoming increasingly evident, though, that the real issue is not so much the freedom of Berlin as the recognition of East Germany, with all that that would imply regarding the abandonment of proposals for the reunification of Germany, at least in the fore-rickiel Marshal Montgomery, in a recent article in the Sunday Times of London, stated he believed Germany should remain divided. "The Russians will not allow any such reunifica-tion in any future we can foresee, and they are right," he wrote. "Svery Political leader in Europe knows this, but not one has the courage to admit it."

The West has no way of forcing reunifica-tion, short of war, any more than Khrushchev has any way of forcing Western troops out of Berlin, short of war.

But if the West and Russia could reach an agreement on the question of a reunited Ger-many-and that agreement could only be for the West to recognize what is a fact, the division of Germany into two parts—then it might well prove possible, perhaps even easy, to persuade Russia, in its turn, to accept as a fact which cannot be altered the presence of Western troops in Berlin. The West might not even want to keep troops there indefinitely. After a face-saving interval, they might be withdrawn, if an agreement were reached on the preservation of West Berlin's freedom. In the event of war, the Western troops in Berlin would be little better than hostages.

There would be, of course, a very real risk in such a withdrawal. It could be misinterin such a withdrawal. It could be misinter-preted as a sign of weakness, a sign that the West would not oppose with force a later Com-munist takeover in Berlin. For that reason, opposition to withdrawal is certain to be strong.

But there are good reasons to believe that this is a secondary question, which need not be dealt with now if East and West can reach an agreement, on the division of Germany. agreement on the division of Germany.

In any event, it can be argued that the West's position would actually be stronger if it sought such an agreement, for then if war came it would be clear to all the world that it was because of Communist aggression, an attempt to take over Berlin, rather than because the West would not recognize an existing fact, that Germany is divided into two parts, and has been since the close of the Second Great War. The recognition might not even have to be a formal

The Difficult Period

We dislike differing with Doris Clark, the Canadian social worker whose column "Success-Cananan social worker whose column "Success-rial Living" is such a popular recent addition to the features carried in this newspaper. None-theless, in the interest of accuracy, we think it necessary to observe that her age was showing in a recent article.

The average person, ahe said, lives through three financially depressed periods in a lifetime, when he has just left shool and taken his first when he has just married and begun a form the he has just married and begun a form of the he has just married and person. Now this is the traditional pottermer, hancially depressed periods—we like that empeatem hold true today? We suggest that, in many cases and indeed perhaps in most cases, if does not. The fact that it does not, we feel, he happy againteant.

if does not: The fact that it does not, we deed, is highly significant. Thus the first "inancially depressed period." That the first "inancially depressed period." That the first "inancially depressed period. The first that following leaving school and taking a job. do days the average family had a struggle of the same that the first that the including many luxuries, as they do today. Then a boy who left school and started work was expected to contribute towards the upkeep of the family—indeed, in many cases, the imperative necessity for him helping was the reason he left of the contribute towards the upkeep of the family indiced, in many cases, the imperative necessity for him helping was the reason he left for him helping was the reason he left of the many cases of the more ambitious to entry, the rule was for the more ambitious to entry, the rule was for the more ambitious to entry, the rule was the first that much. Moreover, the boy often the rule was the first that much and the same and as often as not, as the proof of the same and the rule was the result as the regulad it as proof of the first that much. Moreover, the boy often case their copies at home and, as often as not, as often as not, as the proof of the family of the result.—In never had it as proof or wittless. continues to live at nome and, as often as not, is neither expecting nor expected to pay for this privilege. The result—he never had it so good, and will not again, for many years, once this "financially elevated period" is over.

Of course, there are exceptions to this rule.

If the "boy" is a man and the school he leaves is a university, he may have debts to pay off.
And, in bed times, periodic unemployment may plagde workers with little seniority. But these plagies workers with little seniority. But these are exceptions.

Now take the second "financially depressed period," when a man has married and has "begun a family." Here much depends on the phrase begun a family." If the means that a child has been born, then indeed this period is likely to be depressed, today as in past years. But directly after marriage, prosperous times often flower for a time, months or years depending of allower for a time, months or years depending times working. 'True, if they have been living at home, they will fine some increase in expenses. But nothing like the pluch that will come later when the first child is born. Then, with another mouth to feed and bigger living quarters required, expenses will jump. At the same time income will be severely reduced, for the with will have to stop working for a time or the wife will have to stop working for a time or help at home.

This financial depression will be the deeper today because, with the present-day tendency to marry young, it often comes soon after leaving oway occasion, with the present-oxy tendency school, where arrives soon after leaving school, where arrives soon after leaving school, where arrives leaving school, where arrives leaving school, where arrives leaving school are all though this fact has been deceptively concealed by the indicigence of parents who have provided room and board at no cost. Instead of the traditional two "inancially depressed periods" to which Dord Clark refers, we have, in effect's double-header, one period with the many young couples find themselves in deep fi-nancial trophel?

The most effective way to avert this attuation is to narrow the gap between feast and famine. This can be done by parents who are silving enough to require that their children pull string enough to require that their children pull whave steady jobs.

If Doris Clark had been dealing with this problem, rather than a totally different ond, in the reference to finacially depressed periods, we rather think this is the sort of advice she would have given.

It has been a thousand times observed, and I must observe it once more, that the hours we pass with happy prospects in view, are more pleasing than those crowned with fruition.—
Oliver Goldsmith.

A lively and lasting sense of filial duty is more effectually impressed on the mind of a son or daughter by reading King Lear, than by all the dry volumes of chiles, and divinity, that ever were written.—Thomas Tenerson.

One of the curious things about broadcasting is that people often hear things which have not been said.—Carleton Greene, director, British Broadcasting Company.

Action Justified by Failure

It has been said, so often that to repeat it approaches nagging, that the reason for disquiet about the U.S.-backed invasion of Cuba was not that it failed, but that it was attempted at all.

But nobody so far, to our knowledge, has advanced the argument that the invasion's failure proved it was justified.

Yet a good case can be made out for such

Yet a goon case can be made out nor much a proposition.

A New York Times correspondent, Ted Sruic, reports in Look magasine that: "The basic error was made early. The Central Intelligence Agency estimated that an attack by 1,300 men would cause the instant collapse of a police state defended by 30,000 troops."

Now no matter how foolish the CIA has been

Now no matter how foolish the CIA has been made to appear as an injelligence agency by the fallacy of this belief, it appears to us self-evident that if the CIA estimate was accepted, as it was, by knowledgeable military men, it can only have been because they, and the high government officials they advised, were sure that Castro and his regime were hated by the bulk of the Cuban people. Events have proven this review of the control of the cuban people. Events have proven the review of the cuban people. The control of the cuban people of the cuban people of the cuban people. Events have proven this review of the cuban people. Events have proven the cuban people of the cuban people. Events have proven the cuban people of the cuban people Inc. Nevertheless, surely we are forced to conclude that the invasion was bacted by the U.S. under the Impression that the Cubans, on the island, would immediately revolt as soon as they had the slightest chance of succeeding. If such had been the case, ten the invasion would have been justified, not merely because it succeeded but because the condition for the success was that this would have reflected the desires of the result miscale of the Cubacted the desires of the result miscale of the Cubacted the desires of the result miscale of the Cubacted the desires of the result miscale of the Cubacted the desires of the result miscale of the Cubacted the contraction.

decires of the great majority of the Cubans.

It would be one thing for the U.S. to attempt to impose its will on a small and virtually defenceless neighbor. It is quite another for the U.S. to attempt to enable these people to attain their own desires. If this were the spirit in which the invasion was backed then its foilin which the invasion was backed, then its fail-ure is in itself a guarantee that the attempt will not be repeated, at least not until there is good reason to believe that conditions in Cuba have changed and the Cubans have been dis-illusioned about Castro.

Looked at in this light, it would seem that the failure of the invasion proves the U.S. acted

But there is another way to look at the re-port. It is true that doubling the production of meat twenty years from now is almost cer-tainly not beyond the capacity of Canadian farmers, providing they get the right kind of co-operation from the nation as a whole. There may be a bright future ahead for Canadian farmers in twenty years, as far as demand for their crops are concerned, but it would be short-sighted to suppose that this will guarantee us a happy future if it means increased hunger and want in many other parts of the world. to the minimum?

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF SYGONE YEARS 20 YEARS AGO

The rumble of grain binders harvesting the first of the 1941 grain crop, will be heard generally throughout the ditrict before the present week is out, according to farmers in the Bay of Quinte area who state that fail rye and fail wheat is about ready for the reaper. The yield of this season's fail grain will of this season's fall grain will not be as heavy as unual, it was stated, as the long continued drought and the hot sun during the time that the grain was fill-ing has resulted in in very short heads and in some cases, the grain ripening before it was properly filled. "Good thing we saw these bargains advertised in the paper last night!"

Your newspaper is YOUR SHOPPING GUIDE

In newspapers the news of better products and services is as important to today's modern family as that of current events or features concerning home and family, food and fashion, hobbies and health.

For newspapers are the medium by which most people shop. No other medium supplies the variety and detail of advertising by which one may compare prices and benefits and choose the comforts and conveniences that make for a full living standard.

There's much significance in this for local advertisers. For only in the newspaper con people of all age and income groups find the information and inspiration so necessary for good officenship and for the enjoyment of a better way of life.

And because newspapers gain their friendship and regular readership, newspaper advertisers are provided the most productive medium of communication with customers.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Baseball fans are funny creatures. There is the loud-mouthed blabber type, whose diamend idolated consider do wrong even if found guilly of a Bt. Valentine's Day's massacer. There's the "lock" brood who blames the rise of full of faverities on the varieties of Dame Fortune. There's the slight ones who pay third but will mark around the corotile and bet then on their Tommy Marcaro comes under this heading. The popular Park Theatre manager is and was a Deitrell Tirer fan long before Micky Cochrane managed and caught for the great 1834 Tirer team, and starred in both positions.

Tommy picked the Tigers and New York Yan to finish in that epides when the American Lea teams were hitting franges in the Grape Prait Cir and Garry A. and Claude T. were silver-coining chances of the Canadians and Black Hawks in Stanley Cup fandanges.

Signor Mascaro will agree, I hope, that the 1934-Tigers which were pennant-winners, were the greatest ubs ever to represent the Motor City. This was truly a latestr team with every regular but one hilling over 10. Shortstop Bill Rogel, the only one who missed that art, settled for a 1958.

MILE, SECULE UP a new later, we have backed by the sphendid pitching of fichosolory flows (34-8). Tomany Bridges (25-11), Elion Akker (15-7), and Fred Matherry (15-5). As good as are the young hirders of ledary Titres it is deadwithful any force of them will equal the above record. The line-up of the rest 1934 squad infield in-cluded besides Cochrane and Recell, Hask Greenberg first base; Charlie Gebringer, second base; Marv. Owen, third base, and "Goose" Gosila, Pele Fra-Jo-Je While and Gee Walter, outtielder. Green-berg was the only home-run singer but the west were consistent biliters.

The 1945 pennant-winning Tigers, he says, was a wartime collection of odds and ends plus some who had been excepted from military services, including Newhouser, Cramer, Tout and York. Newhouser was 25 that year, part of a string of 29, 25 and 28 started in 1944.

At that the Tagers barely squeezed out with the flag waiting until the last day of the season to do it with only 88 victories, the smallest number with which the feat was ever accomplished.

It was a dramatic finish with Greenberg who play-ed only about haif the season after being released from military service, getting a grand-siam home-run in the ninth arginal St. Louis to give Detroit the pannant by a one-game margin.

A Citizenship Question

J. W. Pickersylli has introduced in the House of Commons an amendment to the Bill of Rights which is designed to guarantee nat-uralized Canadiana the same rights as natural-born citizens. First reaction of almost everyone, we support, will be that this is an admirable mover. However, on learning the details we may find that the case is not so clear as we night have thought. Under the Citizenship Act a naturalized citizens loses his Canadian citizenship by living abroad for more than ox years, unless be is serving as a diplomat, representative of a Conadian firm or must live abroad for health reasons. Mr. Pickersgill wants this changed.

Most countries, of course, would never think of depriving a natural-torn editern of his eliterably by reason of his absence shroad. In the days of Rome, her clittens were scattered throughout the then-known crillined world. The fact that, centuries later, Britain could boast that the sun never set on her Empire boast that the sun never set on her Empire and the countries which the set of the countries to the co many countries continue to claim the allegiance of native-born men and women in distant lands, to the point of calling on them for military service or of detaining them if they visit their homeland, even if they have taken out citizenship in the country in which they have been

Why should not a country be as jealous of its naturalized citisens as of its nature-born? Why, on the one hand, would any nation claim as citizens those who no longer wish such a citizens those who no longer wish such a such as the countries of the countries reject naturalized citizens who want to retain

First reaction, as we said, will almost in-First reaction, as we said, will almost in-evitably be that Mr. Pickersgill is right, that, by making one law for the natural-born and another for the naturalized citizen, we are clearly showing that we regard the latter as a secondclass citizen.

There is, however, another side to the mat-There is, however, another nide to the mat-ter. Unless naturalized citizens are required to reside in Canada, what is to prevent any person from seeking the benefits of Canadian citizenship without any intention of remaining and citizenship? Still, much additional park property has been added. Not all of the parks, though, represent a net gain. Many areas were in use by the public beloge they-formally became parks. Our growth, add the increase in the number of car-owners, has being done is grounds for congratulation. To-day's generation, though, need not tred too surry for the old-timers who had of they parks in which to plenie and camp. "It used to be possible to find plenity of seedinded apole where a plenie baser and the parts." It used to be possible to find plenity of seedinded apole where a plenie baser traited in parks—how much of necessity and how much by choice, because picnickers must have a table and campers indact on running water and cook-houses, is open to debate.

A teacher's role will be drastically changed in the years to come. A United States educa-tionist has said that machines will take over such subjects as grammar, mathematics and

Sensible Stand On CNR

It is difficult, and perhaps unfair, to attempt idge a committee report on a complex subjest on the basis of a brief news report, but we must admit that we find ourselves somewhat surprised at three items in the report of the se of Commons railways committee.

One surprise is a pleasant one. The com-Mittee has gone on record, as feeling that the mittee has gone on record, as feeling that the CRR should not be "unduly hindered" in its no to hip sim as invasion of the control of the c mittee has gone on record as feeling that the CNR should not be "unduly hindered" in its it surprising is that people as a whole are so seldom reasonable when it comes to the services they expect from a government-operated agency. Nor we do expect the Commons committee's reasonable stand to produce any change in this respect. We would wager that, the next time the CNR attempts to abandon an unprofitable line, the residents of the affected area will stir up a tempest. They will descend on their member of Parliament and demand that he take It is going to be very difficult for him to refuse to do so and we would have expected that, being certain to have to face the devil of the voters, the members would have avoided placing the deep sea of a committee recommendation in their rear. But perhaps, with more than usual guile, they hope that this recommendation will provide them, and the governent, with a much-needed afibi, so that necessary reductions in service can be made at some time in the future with an earlier committee's recommendation being the scapegoat.

Also surprising, neither pleasant nor un-asant, was the recommendation that the CNR and any angle and a proper processor and compleasantly and the free in the U.S. Most

Unconvincing Reply

The Portuguese Government has finally got around to issuing an official and more or less detailed denial of charges it is guilty of atrocities in its companion to in its campaign to suppress native unrest in

The foreign ministry, faced with the fact that the charges of atrocities have been voiced not only by black nationalists in other African .not only by black nationalists in other African countries but also by white missionaries, thought it expedient to resort to innuendo—"recent facts oud also lead to the concluded—"recent facts that activities are more directly engaged that activities are more directly engaged as a campaign against Fortuguese authorities than in their religious activities.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARYER, Sports Editor

His 273 pounds of messele are as hard as the steel girders he manhandled in his native Wilmington, Delaware. Strange expressions pountinnes change an eitherwise handsome face. When he talks an certe light occasionally flashes in his eyes.

His blonde hair is close-cropped. As he talked his s clenched and uncleoched. He wore casual clother must have cost him some $200.

A vision episode early in the professional wrestlirs life of Dick "Bulldag" Brower made him a ring isolationit. 'It gree him a strange rare philosophe, Ring-wise he wants no part of an aniagonist except to beat him into inocentibility as quickly as he can. His record proves it.

He has three ambitions. He wants to become the undisputed wrestling champion of the world, make as much money as he can, and do both he quickfy as possible.

Immanulately dressed Dick Brower Eliked with me in his dressing room the other night. He had one topical

His father, "Dynamile" Danny Brower, was a heavyweight boxing champion of the United States Navy. When Dick was ten, his father thrust a weight-lifting device in his hands with the growled advice "Go get into tushing."

He developed and became a champion weightlifter, went to a Delaware junior high school and later had be years' study at a chiropractic college.

A replend by haptage pared the may be preferable with the preferab brower said he cannot get bouts in New York and others. "Doctors refuse to pass me," he "They think I am mentally unbalanced."

He has a fiver desire to become world champion want that belt and the money that goes with M. I we wrestled and beaten the best in Canada and thid States. I have taken on Pat O'Conor, Lou east and others of that type. I am afraid of some."

He stood up. "Feel that," he said... I paked by finger at his chees. It was like a coment walt. "I train for hours every day. That is all I do. I am train for hours every day. That is all I do. I am one of the strongest men in the world," and he repeated, "I want that world title and I'm going to have it reparadies of how I are til."

He admits his berserkian methods in the ring may, him into trouble. "I have to take that chance. I't care what I do as long as I win."

I left this strange young man alone in the dressing room. In a long career as a newspaperman I have interviewed many wrestlers. But this was no mill-run type. He lives in a strange personal atmosphere. I felt this was no group-paint job without benefit

He stood and shook hands. He was due to wrestling fifteen minutes. I torned at the door. He stood there looking at me. There was that strange farwary look in his eyes. Perhaps he was mentially readying himself for "the kill," so to speak, that was

Wants Drugs Tested

Senator Estes Kefauver, Tennessee Democrat, wants the U.S. government to test drugs, to decide whether they work, whether they do what they are supposed to do

The American Medical Association is op-It says such a measure would "limit research, the marketing of drugs and the exercise of discretion by the medical profession." We have considerable sympathy with the Medical Association's stand, particularly the point regarding the exercise of discretion by dootors in the treatment of their patients. It may be true that, in the great majority of cases, may be true that, in the great majority of cases, most of what doctors know about drugs they prescribe they have learned from the drug conpanies. Nevertheless, what the doctors know, and what neither the drug companies nor the government could possibly know, is the condition of each individual patient. Surely there must be some casses in which "taking a chance" is justified and surely only the physician in attendance is qualified to judge when an individual case is in this category.

At the same time II does seem strange for

At the same time, il does seem strange for a government to check only the safety of drugs, with no provision being made for an independent check on their efficacy.

We would dialike a situation in which a We would dislike a situation in which a single agency could keep a drug from being sold. Mistakes are made by the best of circles and we presume even drug research scientists are not immune from this human frailty. But, instead of requiring that a 'drug be proved to work before its sale was authorized, perhaps sately might remain the only qualification for safety might remain the only qualification for sale, while at the same time the government re-search scientists' finding on its efficacy_could be published. That way, declore instead of having less room for the exercise of discretion might very well find themselves with more— partitude that the proof of the control of the partitude that it is not the top which which we have the proof on the long variety which;

Perhaps the American Medical Association could set up its own testing organization to handle such cases. It might even be that it would cost the Association no more than its existing public relations work.

Working Women Nothing New

We have just been glancing at a report of a sub-committee on juvenile-delinquency and working mothers, appointed by the Family Life Research Committee sponsored by the Social Action Department of the Canadian Catholic

The report states that while the number The report states that while the number of women working has not rise greatly, the proportion of-them who are married has. "Most of the women. - regarded employment as the normal state of affairs-and-not just as a stop-aga." The women generally off their own working bocasies they felt the family needed the extra money. Although their main resear to working bocasies they felt the family needed the extra money. Although their main resear to working house they felt the family from wall they main work to keep the family from wall they main work to keep the family from wall they main they main the property of the working is to take the family from wall they main they may be the family from wall they main they may be the family from wall they have the family from the family from wall they have the family from the family from wall they have the family from wall they have the family from the family from wall they have the family from wall they have the family from the family from wall they have the family from the fam consequents... It is rather that women are, on the whole, working to raise the family spandard of living."

We started to wonder what had made wo-men so energetic that they would take on two jobs; one at home and another outside it, when they did not have to do it. Of course, modern conveniences have made it essier to keep house

And then it suddenly struck us. And then it suddenly struck us. It is nothing new for women to do other work besides keeping house. Excepting the small ledured class, women have been doing it has since the beginning of time. The difference is that this work, in the past, was generally in their homes, or in the neighboring fields. The number of women who have had their labors limited to keeping house and caring for their children is both a very small fraction of all the women since the dawn of history.

What is new is not that women today are ng more than act as housewife and nurse-id but that they are doing this because they want to, not because circumstances force them to do so. What is new is that modern inven-tions have made this dual role of homemaker and bread-winner easier.

bread-wimer easier.

What may also be new, though, we shall never mention, it publicly, is that today men also enjoy the benefits of modern machinery and shorter, working: hours, while they have been freed of the necessity of teaching tiffeir sons how to labor like men. On the face of it, it seems that men are getting much the best of this

Axis Sally Released

Axis Sally is out of fail.

That is hardly news to shake the world. Many will never have heard of her. Others will have to prod their memories vigorously before they recall her propaganda broadcasts for the Nasis.

Yet, twenty years ago, she was a charter member of a select and powerful group, the furnous two spoke to the dictator; enemies not merely in the native tongues of these lands, but from a background of starred experience, but from a background of starred experience. We have been also also a selected that the selected was a host of collaborators, traitors in greater or lesser degrees, all the way from unknowns to novelties like Knut Hamsur and poets like Exra-Pound.

Mildred Gillar, alias Axis Sally, was of this mpany. She has just been released in the after serving twelve years of a term of 10 to 30 years for treason.

In 1949, when she was sentenced, the world was still close enough to the war for all to believe that she got no more than her deserts. And so, probably, she did. There is something about a trailor that sits ill with all of-ud. And we have the control of the control of the world with words all day long, have nerve seen the inside of a prison. Their only defence is that which Eichmann is now pleading, before a court in liratel—that they were only taking orders. But found their superiors. Ip did a poor defence. But found their superiors. Ip did a poor defence. But which Eichmann is now pleading, before a court in liratel—that they were only taking orders with a kine Sally has server only the prison, before and after her conviction?

How can one balance the scale—expectable. In 1949, when she was sentenced, the world

How can one balance the scales—especially when one realizes that those among them who have repented must be torn with remorse, while others who were equally guilty will only regard themselves as martyrs?

Harris said to accept simmps. Say "This, too, shall pass away." Robert Benchey, the humorist, put it another way, in action. Benchlay had been hired to write a column. He was told that on zongth days the thing to do was to start writing. It was and he did. He wrote
"The - "." Then he stopped. He locked.
He thought. And finished the sentence." .hell with !!". And went home. Which was exactly what a sports columnist we know did on another rount day. Told about what Benchand the start of the start of the start of the sentence." on another rough day. Told about what Bench-ley did and then did.

So we have told about what Harris says and what an editorial writer said and what Benchley and a sports columnist did. And now we are going to.

now we are going to.

Go home, that is.

P.S.—This thing gets longer every time around. The next writer who uses this gag should be able to fill a whole column with it.

We've tasking about the 3 varieties of Gerber Strained and Junior Meats, so rich in the proteins that provide strength and promote growth. Only aslocted, government-inspected cuts go into these quality meats. After careful trimming, they've specialty processed to preserve true-meat flavours and the turnout in autritive values. Naturally, most of the fat is removed as even tiny beloes can digest them easily.

To please baby's palate, Gerber Meats fo babies are 100% pure meat, with just enoug astural broth left in to give a wonderfully smooth moist texture. Chicken, Beef, Veal. . . all super when served with Gerber vegetables.

This was a typically British reaction.

The thousands who cheered him on his progress from airport to exhibition are just as copposed to Communism as their counterparts in any U.S. city.

What's more, if a war starts, they will be ong the first to perish under Russian H-

But Gagarin, as the first man to burst the bonds of gravity and and weightless through space, is a heroic figure whose name will go down in the history of mankind, be that history short or long.
And the British, bankining all thought of international politics, let him know what they thought of him.
They thought he was truncations.

We would be surprised if Gagarin did not reciprocate this feeling. We suspect that when, in the Russian fashion, he recognized the crowd's applause by applauding in return, it was something more than a traditional gesture, that it expressed his own tribute to the British

A few weeks ago Fremier Leslie Frost, his thrifty instincts finally outraged by a particularly floosy bit of publicity issued by one of the departments of the government he heads, put his foot down-bard. He not only baumed conhest foot of the foo ment of Lands and Forests.

At the time, while applauding Premier Frost's action in principle, we editorially mourned the passing of "Sylva," one of those delightum exceptions to the general rule that government publications are as dry as the Sahara and as tasteless as sawdust.

Then, this week, there arrived on our desk a stranger, "Ontario Fish and Wildlife Review," a stranger, "Ontario Fish and Wildlife Breires," put out by the Department of Lands and Freetest. An ugly suspicion setsed us. Sure enough, the cover announced that this was "Vot. 1, No. 1." Its format was chasper than "Vot. 1, No. 1." Its format was chasper than "only quartery apparently intended to issue it may consider the property of the proper

That dog presumed that undermeath Mr.

"Mom says electric fry pans are like kids... you don't know what you're missing 'til you have one!"

It's so true of all the wide array of portable electric cooking appliances available today...including automatic saucepans, portable ovens, rotisseries, deep fat fryers and kettles. These miracles of modern cooking provide a neverending source of inspiration to your meal planning. Everyday dishes turn out "chef-style" and delicious . . . especially good because they're cooked to perfection in electric appliances designed for the job.

You get more out of life-when you get the most out of electricity.

O TO MESSES, GERRY JOYCE AND WALT PRASI

For a few hours the other night, your softball ms divorced the interest of a sizable chunk of the populace from the Ottawa Coyne Exchange.

Three hours of being derriere-glued to a chunk rdwood is not conductive to the maximum comfort gluteous maxims. But this caper was worth it.

You, Mr. Fraser, Casey-Siengeled a fine job. I now you have been toused out of better ball-parks but the first one you have encountered that had a set ground rules for every player,

The game had its serious moment, too. You, Mr. acer, should not encourage bewling on your team. Itr Cole's first edition relied a perfect strike when neatily, but not gardily, head-pinned your good-king hurler, Mr. Chapmana.

You, Mr. Joyce, should encourage ventriloquism it a essary piece of equipment. We had a lip-reader in press box and what that guy saw did not enhance the all status of the umpire's ancestry.

All-in-all it was fine entertainment. A shrilling mood battle fought to the last ditch which could have se either way. And not a fan left a seat until the final A. Even the cheesp skates in their cars back there on a recentrack did not complain nor ask for a rebate.

And a last word, Mr. Fracer. Your careleanness in fesisting that an umpire's tronsers are of the proper er, style and drape may cost you a victory.

It is not your fault the umps were blue jeans be-use his official trews of nombre black had devel-od a parties of the ways on the south side of the p while the wearer was dusting off a plate.

Another point, gentlemen, make sure the same pow-hat-be send the proper quota of official umpires to all unset, thus eliminating the possibility of protest if a "non-tion" arbiter is pressed into service.

The gasoline spills over, floods your ngine—and makes starting difficult.

Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend is formulated to stand high temperatures without percolating. You can get quick starts even after a long, hard, hot drive.

A faulty fuel pump can aggravate vapour lock. Your Shell dealer can check fuel line pressure in a few

The Fate of This Country

It was one of Britain's finest Parliamentar-ians, Benjamin Disraell, who said, "Upon the education of the people of this country, the fate of this country depends." These few words make up a truth which is applicable to almost any situation in any country under any form of socio-political structure.

socio-political structure.

It is a truth which is much more readily recognised, and adhered to, by leaders of countries whose political belief or way of life are quite spart from, if not actually diametrically opposed to, the extremely free and liberal views and conditions of life enjoyed by the British cities or Disraelits time.

We know on successful dictator or oilgarchy which has endured for long without

proves a high degree of ignorance on the speak-er's part when this argument is presented no matter what his formal education might have been. Somewhere along the line it would appear that our people have not been taught that our country and our lives are only what we our-selves make them, or let them be made for us. The former is the life of the free man, the latter the life of the slave.

There is a great void somewhere in our edu-# There is a great void somewhere in our edu-é-ction when so many of our is o-called citizens (i.e. those entitled for full civil rights and free-doms) are a geager to let the government do considerate the constant of the constant of a free people. It should have but a few basic purposes. Three should include providing for the defence of the country and its citizens from external aggressors, providing for the fair treatment of all by each within our political boundary lines, and to provide for the continuous boundary lines, and to provide for the continuous chauring that they are that was of the con-oligations and responsibilities as citizens.

chauming that they are fully aware of the basic obligations and responsibilities as citizens. In short our people should be strong on de-fence, strong on rights and strong on education. The latter has certainly been lacking for a num-ber of years, with a resultant weakening of the other two links in our chain forged of freedom. When citizens begin to expect an inanimate thing like government to provide for them from the cradle to the grave rather than to shift for themselves there is, indeed, something wrong with the way we and our children are being

There will have to be a strengthening of this factor if the fate of our country is not to have it fall apart at the seams because everyone is waiting for someone else to pull them together.

If there were in the world today any large numbers of people who desired their happiness more than they desired the unhappiness of others, we could have a paradise in a few years. —Bertrand Russell.

A nation whose people remain scientifically different during the '60's will not win any sind of race except the race for last place.—Physicist Joseph Kapian, advocating the government buy evening television time for cultural and scientific programs.

The Refugee Flow

The Refugee Flow

Chancelor Kourad Adenauer of West, Germany says that pands is apparently spreading inroughout Bast Germany. He address that from the flow of, refugees from Bast Germany.

This is indeed as for people to "vote with their best," in Lenin's phrase, every day, Is it because of fear of wire between East and West over Benin? This is not the resson that Adenauer attraces, and it could be argreat that, it can be a superational to the second and the second that the Adenauer's explanation for the influx of refugees is that the East Germans are under mounting pressure from the Communist government. What is the reason behind such presment. ment. What is the reason beginnd such pres-sure? It could be to force them into accepting the planned action of their Communist govern-ment in signing a separate peace treaty with Russia, an action which would, in effect, recog-nize the division of Germany into two parts as a condition of affairs which would crast for some considerable time, at least. Or it could be or nected with the current food shortage in E rmany—Adequates a cool among the West Ger-any would heap 5,000 tons of butter, rather an fire, on East German heads, a gift which, alle welcome to the hungry common people, is urily likely to be palatable to the Red bosses.

Preparing The Public

Preparing The Public

Description of the short-comings of the democratic against of government, Increasingly evident in the same days of fast-morting developments and mass communication, is that before a government can take effective action it, needs to prepare public opinion. This is especially true in those lands which hock upon duly-elected representatives of the people as honor bound to vois in accordance of the people as honor bound to vois in accordance. This interpretation of democracy is commonplace in the U.S. where it has none constitutional validity, and is becoming increasingly common in Canada, where it has no validity as all. It is lipserent in our partitimentary system that Members of Parliament are elected to act for the people, doing their deliberating and their decision making for them on the basis of a study of the people, doing their deliberating and their decision making for them on the basis of a study of the people, doing their deliberating and their decision making for them on the basis of a study of the people o ut-face in its public relations program and mean war. So the sommestration had to do an about-Lose in the public epithens program and seek to soften public optimen.

It is not to soften public optimen. The soften public optimen can be public optimen. The public must be prepared for derelopments. That appears to have been Prime Minister Macmillian's aim the other day, when he announced that severe action is planned to remedy the undavorable export-import gap and other crists. The stressing to speculate whether this "severe action" is intended to include joining the Common Market and whether, despite all the trappings of negotiation with Commonwealth countries, the Rithids. Government has decided that these action is essential to the common wall being of Rithids and the common seal being of Rithids Government has decided that these action is essential to the common well being of Rithids and the control of the common wall being of Rithids and the control of the soft of the soft of the soft of the soft of the common that the soft of the soft of the common that the soft of the soft

Highway Opens Today

The opening of the final link in the Belle-ville-Toronto stretch of Highway 401 today completes a program long looked for by resi-dents of this section of Eastern Ontario. The last 28-mile "gap" from Brighton to Port Hope will be opened this afternoon by the Ontario Department of Highways. Honorable Fred M. Cass, Highways Minister; Honorable W. A. A resident of Believille who has been greatly integrated in promoting the building of this new highway is Rimer Sanderock, M. P.P., for Risalings West.—'It was largely due to his efforts that this him from Maryrelle to Trenton was completed about three years ago. The new section took care of a large amount of truck and other through Traffic which, otherwise, would have added an extra burden to our already crowded through thoroughfares. Mr. Sanderock. who has been a patient in the Kingston. rowded through thoroughjares. Mr. Sandercock, who has been's patient in the Kingston General Hospital for 'two months, would undoubtedly appreciate a note of appreciation, as well, for his part in the promotion and completion of Highway 401 to Toronto.

Foiled Again

We note that the enterprising man who reemily went over the Ningers Fulls in a rub-ber-corpored metal sphere was fined the maximum amount for "performing an act that attracts or is likely to attract persons" which is contrary to the local parks commission's regulations unless permission is obtained.

It was of little use to argue that there had been no public disturbance during the commission of the stunt nor had there been my effort to publicite it, beforehand before Magistrate Johnstone Roberts, who levied the maximum remaily.

Johnstone Roberts, who levied the maximum penalty.

Without putting up an argument regarding the morting technicalities throwing regarding the wording of the by-law it should suffice to say that whenever someone manages to do the say that themere someone manages to do the unusual or unexpected, in a more or less harmless way, there are some officials who will do their best to make it miserable for him. Of course, in this free country of ours, if he had first obtained the permission of the parks board he would have been perfectly home free to have committed the act without fear of retribution.

Dog in the Manger?

Britain has been seriously contemplating entering the European Common Market for some limes now. Since such a more would require some reconsideration of her tariff and frade ar-rangements with members of the Commonwealth due to the requirements of participation as a member of this customs and trade union, she as sent out emmissaries to sound out the feeling of Commonwealth members on this matter.

In Canada Commonwealth Relations Secre-tary Duncan Sandys was greeted with "almost outright opposition" to this move, which would seriously jeopardize the favorable consideration which many Canadian products and commodi-ties find on the United Kingdom market.

That such an attitude should be expressed by our government seems illogical. It was but a few months ago that a special form of assess-ing the value of British automobiles being exported to Canada was introduced by this government in order to raise the price on these economy cars to offer, presumably, some measure of relief to domestic manufacturers. The British pointed out at that time that the U.K. already had a trade deficit with Canada and this was likely to increase it. It was also brought to the attention of the government that the U.K. automobile industry spent almost as much in buying raw materials from Canada as they received in dollars from the sale of their

as they received in dollars from the sale of their flowerer, it was felt in Ottawa that Canadian Interest would be compromised if this system of appraisal or duty and taxes was not implemented and the measure was adopted with the contrast of the contrast customers in earning enough dollars Now Britain proposes to tal.

New Britain proposes to join the European Common Market which offers many advantages to her common Market which offers many advantages to her concentrate the property for all participating countries in this second common market with the property of the participating countries in this second common market with the second common to the British riempoint to from home industry through a metitod which has never yet proven successful, it appears to be unfair to demand that Britain brirnin from entering an agreement which will do much to ensure the property of her people when we have offered absolutely no alternative made to increase the price of British cars that the result would be more disastrous than might be imagined as far as the overall picture of Canadian Industry was concerned. The real-leading of these fears appears to be at hand and Canadians had best by prepared to stand up and take the medicine which has oolvously been earned through our own actions.

It is interesting to theorize on the reasons for their abandoning what is supposed to be one of the leading lights in Moscow's satellite line-up. From more interesting would be speculation as to why the East German police some production of the seathern to the seathern of the seathern to the result of the seathern to first first principal Europe to prevent such acts. It is also interesting to note that flight's from the Community republic is pundishable as a crime with a two-year jail seathern.

It has been suggested that in allowing the dissattified to "escape" to West Germany, the East German poverment is actually easing its attention by allowing potentials tracing easing the state of the control of t

On the other hand the West German authorities had best take a close look at these "retringees." It was noted in a recent Canadian Press ease that the tariff change regarding the Minister of National Revenue's power to declare items to be of "a class or kind made in Canada" as been in effect since last December 20th. This spite the fact that Parliament has not yet approved the legislation regarding this matter and is not likely to do so.

Neither Rhyme Nor Reason

A camper has been charged with murder owing the shooting of a teen-aged youth at a beach near Sault Ste. Marie this past weekend. It appears that the youth, together with several companions, had been walking along the beach and had been challenged and fired upon by the camper who claimed they had been "molesting" his family in the early hours of the morning.

It appears that this latter claim is not to be considered as unusual in the area concerned where teen-age gangs are reported to be wandering about and a number of that age category have been charged with breaking and entering, theft and car theft in the local court. The situation is such that the police have warned campers not to use several of the local beaches for outings because "there is no adequate supervision.

Indeed, it was because of the reports of these roaming "gangs" that prompted the camper concerned to have a rifle in his pos-camper concerned to have a rifle in his pos-session whilst camping.

There seems to be little reason for the incident to have taken place. It is hard to understand why a person would take his family camping in an area where he might well expect to have one peems and quitst disrupted by the control peems and quitst disrupted by when there has been no nolles crackdown in the rowdles. It is equally difficult to understand why there has been no police crackfown in the area in order to ensure that the average clitten might commune with nature free from any wor-ries concerning "gangs". It is not enough to plead "no adequate sup-ervision" and trust that the clittens will stay away from public properly which is afflicted with a rush of juvenile desperadoe. This is merely abrindings mer responsibility as a guardian of the peace and property of the com-tended of the company of the com-tended of the company of the com-tended of the company of the com-posite reinforcements should have been called in to remedy the situation.

in to remedy the situation.

Instead we have a youth killed and a citizen, who only wanted to enjoy the recreation of camping, charged with murder. There is neither thyme nor reason to this situation. It is obvious that additional police are needed elsewhere than on our highways.

Can You Top This?

Can 100 IOP INIS!

Through the medium of Irrestla, the Soviet government newspaper, it has been declared that the U.S.R.R. has a larger and faster fleet of rocket-launching nuclear submarines than does the United States. The news item, which was launched in the form of an attack on Robert Semined, the American attorney-general, had

Rennedy, the American attorney-general, had this to say:
"Does Robert Rennedy really think that the country which was first in building an atomic power station;—a mighty atomic icebreaker, and power station; a mighty atomic iterreacer, and which achieved enormous success in the peace-ful use of atomic energy forgot and did not think about the creation of an atomic submarine fleet?'

Well we doubt if Mr. Kennedy really thinks this and we also doubt if the Soviet nation, which also claims to have invented the electric light, the telephone, the airplane, the steam engine and, for all we know, the Irish potato, can lay a serious claim to a vast nuclear sub-

We are not, bf course, experts on Soviet inilitary affairs but have been able to assess to a small degree the trend of Russian thinking and propaganda. These latter factors appear to be based on the prime consideration that the Soviet is not going to come out second-best on any-thing, except, perhaps, becoming a close ally of the United States.

With the fabled salt mines of Siberia avail-able surely the Soviet public relations machinery is missing a good bet when it does not include a sample of this commodity when it turns out some of its "information" releases.

Apparently the only man among 1,700,000 nsters to decide he would make a better resident than Jimmy Hoffs, one Milton J. Liss of Newark, arose at the union convention the other day to suggest that Teamster officers be elected by secret ballot.

Supporters of Hoffa retorted that only "yellow-bellied bums" were unwilling to follow the customary practice of standing up and heing counted at the convention. What's more, said Hoffa's stalwarts as they hooted down the idea, the secret heliot referending ordinated abroad the secret ballot referendum originated abroad and the Teamsters want nothing to do with a "foreign system." A Worthy Suggestion

A WOTHLY SUGGESTION
The Ordation Teachers' Federation was the instigator of a motion passed recently by the Canadian Teachers' Federation urging that the federal government allow extramural and extension students at universities be allowed full income tax deduction for their builton fees.

come tax deduction for their builton fees.

This is a very worthy suggestion. With roll time university students being allowed a full deduction for their builton fees, we can see no reason why the extramural and extension students, whose mode of education is often more difficult than if they were in full time attendance, should not be allowed similar deductions.

Any proper manner by which a person at-pts to further his education should receive tempts to further his education should receive every encouragement by all in our society for the development of any individual is of a benefit to our society as a whole as well as to himself. Whilst on the matter of allowing students exemptions we can see little, in fact no, reason why they abould not be allowed to deduct the coat of their textbooks when making out their income tax returns. In many course of ad-vasced education the cost of textbooks is high various counsistent the cost of textocoats is high and can amount to several hundred foliars a year for a university student. It seems only logical that if he is allowed to deduct his tuition costs he should be allowed to deduct his text-books' costs for without the latter his tuition would not come to fruition.

Paralleling the Transport Minister's an-norment is a statement by Ontario Provincial Police Commissioner W. H. Clark that his force is commencing an all-out effort to enforce traf-fic regulations and put highway law-breakers on trial for their misdeeds.

The reason for this concern is the fact that this year has seen a 41 per cent increase in teraffic fashlities over the similar period of 1960. This increase certainly cannot be attributed the an increase in case to the highway or the number of the control of the

It is often that one can approach a slow driver and whilst won-deering whether or not be known what he is doing the highway without giving the proper signals. The thought of having a person at the controls of an automobile who is quite junging of himself and his vehicle (which often accounts for slow drivers) is most appalling. Another area of the safe driving picture within hight be given some confidentation is that of the chronic carsless or reclass driver. The current plans of the Ontaro Department of Transport and the Attorney-General's office are, we trust, geared to achieve this objective for the safety of the motoring public.

A news report from Sweden relates an interesting incident where two cars of the same make and color collided head-on in an accident. Both drivers suffered identical injuries having Both drivers surrered identical injuries naving both been thrown against their car windshields.
